

I Am Like You

Catherine Faber

♩ = 150

We are a - like, in strength and need.
 We can give pain, we can give mirth
 The world is wide, the sky is old

5 The tears we shed are salt, if some - thing cuts us we both
 We can give com - fort love and know - ledge as a mea - sure of our Fair - ness, free - dom, care, these fra - gile val - ues I will 9 bleed. Our lives are dear, and all too brief.

 worth.. Our lives may fly, can heal or kill.
 hold. We live our lives, and take our shot;

13 We both reach out for hap - pi - ness we both must suf - fer grief.
 Our choi - ces here de - fine us as a force for good or ill.
 Let's make this world the best we can, in case it's all we've got.

18 I am like you; you are like me. With our spi - rits held in

24 com - mon in our shared hu - man - i - ty, We can choose love

28 in - stead of strife, And work to bring to - gea - ther what we 33 val - ue in this life. I am like you.